

Fishing Report: Anderson Lake Nov. 8

From: Norm Neiderer [nnwneiderer@gmail.com]

Received: Sun 2015-11-08 6:15 pm

Hi All,

Jack and I went to Anderson Lake today. It was cloudy with no wind. It took us a while to figure out where the fish were hiding. We caught a lot of beautiful cutties. The trick was to cast towards shore about 3 feet (floating line). The fly, was of course the Rolled Muddler. The one I used was tied on a # 10 hook with a gold body instead of the usual silver. There was only a few fish that broke the surface, maybe 10 during the whole time we were there.

No hatch whatsoever. There was bit of shooting going on. I was hoping for no stray bullets. We had a good day.

Cheers,
Norm

PS: I did get one fish on a # 4 sink line and a black Wolly Bugger.

--

"Aspire to Inspire before you Expire"