

Another way to catch fish: Big Qualicum hatchery, Sept 25, 2015

From: Harry McLeod [hamcleod@shaw.ca]

Received: Tues 2015-10-06 11.37am

I had been unable to send any of my photos through Photoshop for many months now, but today I suddenly received 27 batches set earlier, mostly as tests to see if I could get it working. The Gods in cyberspace work in mysterious ways. I had gone to the Big Qualicum to take pictures of mushrooms on September 25th, and so had my 105 mm macro and Nikon D3 (few mushrooms present), when I noticed these fish jumping at the bridge area. Most were taken at 1/600 to 1/2500 of a second and around half were shot from the hip in a pre focused area.

Nice mushrooms Harry!