Hi All'

Q't, the Mechanic, and I went to the Quinsam today. Perfect day weather wise. Water still very cold and lots of it coming down the river. Q't caught one on a half back, the mechanic a couple on a gold ribbed hair ears ( he couldn't land them) and yours truly got skunked. The river needs to come down a bit and the water needs to warm up. On the way out, we checked the Campbell. Too much water, would be very hard to fish.

Cheers,
the Crier

PS: Saw a few midges laying eggs and flying around. Not very many.
