

Chum Fest 2016

From: Bob Kissinger [basherbob@outlook.com]

Well Chum Fest is now behind us. The water was a tad high and it rained all morning but there were lots of fish. Everyone including the two newbies caught fish. Although I didn't see any chromers, I did see some very large ones with my biggest close to 15 pounds.

Lunch at the Wheatsheaf was another culinary treat and our participant count for the day was 24 which included a few “fair weather fishermen “who only showed up at lunch time.”

As has become tradition, one of our members, not mentioning any names such as Jack, sacrificed his rod to the chum gods.

Cheers
