

Elk River May 26th

Hi All,

Jack, Jim and I went to the Elk yesterday. The weather was just perfect. Sunny, not a cloud and not too warm. The water is very clear and just the right height to be able to cross the river in many of its branches. The fishing was hot in Cervus Creek in one spot only. Jack did very well there on a small bead head black nymph. Jim had moved to the main river where he was experimenting with different flies. Jack and I joined him. Jack found another good spot and fished it for a long time doing very well there as well. I went exploring and marvelled at the scenery. I tried countless flies and found like Jim that our best fly was Uncle Tom's Rolled Muddler. Jack persisted with the same fly all day. Almost all of the fish caught were coloured. While exploring, I came across a fellow named Dave who just moved to the Island from the Mainland. He was fishing the river for the first time. Welcome to Paradise Dave. It was a wonderful day,

Norm
