

Salmon Point...Lockjaw

George McGladrey [jgeorge@shaw.ca]

Hi Bruce

Went out this morning on the turning tide as I had seen one jack jump. However as Leo puts it it they are jumping straight up forget it.

Did rig up the lines and flies and go down to the water anyway but nothing.

Talked to an Fly fisher tonight and he says they aren't biting yet.

Going to rain tomorrow so we are off to explore Campbell River and hope that the rain loosens up their jaws.

Great harvest moon tonight!